Everything that is great and good in this world has its roots in something very humble and nondescript indeed: an idea. The difference between ideas, and the fulfilment of them into something greater is the effort that we put into making these ideas come to reality. As the CUMaS outreach officer, this is my aim for the year- to demystify the Cambridge experience and application process- so that many more bright, deserving talents back home in Malaysia have the audacity to give Cambridge a shot. To this end, I will do my utmost to furnish applicants of different courses with information and tips specific to the courses that they are applying for, in addition to the most important part of it all: the willingness to put in the effort and give it a go!
