About me

Working on a project such as managing a website has always been my dream. I have learnt C++ programming before, but all I did was writing codes to solve simple maths problems, so I yearn for something different. By becoming the CUMaS Technical Officer, I would have the opportunities to learn more about things I am interested in and at the same time, contribute to the society.

What I will do:

- Update the CUMaS webpage regularly with more details of recent and future events.
- Improve the search engine of CUMaS webpage (by making the database more organised).
- Provide more information about studying in Cambridge (and trivia) for prospective students (such as links to Tripos papers for those who are keen :P).
- Continue the legacy of previous Technical Officer to work on developing a Mandarin and Malay version of the CUMaS webpage.

Although I have only designed a (very simple) webpage once using HTML and CSS, I promise I will bring more varieties to the CUMaS webpage. I might not be the best Technical Officer but one thing is for sure, I will definitely remember to renew the CUMaS domain this year!
