NICOLE CHOOONG

First year Compsci at Gonville & Caius who has a pan
advertisement on Ticketbridge with 20 likes! If I can persuade three people to buy an overpriced pan, I can probably persuade you that I can president™.

AS YOUR CUMaS PRESIDENT
(or Secretary) ((or Technical Officer))

WHY ME?

- Organiser of SEA's largest interschool coding competition
- CEO of a five-figure notes selling business (@pleasebuyyourstuffs)
- Winner of the GIS This Idea Must Die public speaking competition

Proposer Clarissa Teh,
Engineering @ Gonville & Caius

Second Aaron Goh, Economics @ Hughes Hall

OBJECTIVES

Encouragement of non-committee initiatives

Not being able to sustain a full-time role in the committee shouldn't impede anyone's opportunities to propose and organise CUMaS events (Your CV: Why hello there). Supporting your ideas and involvement, both in terms of funding and promotions, will hopefully play a part in making more litty get-togethers a thing and strengthening the bond of our community.

Continuity

Why vote an idea into manifestation just for it to end as a one-off? Placing a heavier emphasis on the events and systems you like through feedback forms, statistical wizardry and communication to the next committee means that you'll get to enjoy it for another year! Maybe even the year after that! Can the Malaysian in you really ignore this two-in-one deal?

Group transportation between Cambridge and Malaysia

After many years of dormancy, my database-management skills may possibly finally wake to produce a highly technical (Google Sheets) system to optimise the commute of Malaysian students in financial, temporal and social aspects. There's no better way to start the term than forming and solidifying inter-year friendships and enjoying the economies of scale of organisation.

That's all! Thanks!
